

2019 Activist Academy Statewide Tour

Advancing change together.

Join the ACLU of Idaho staff and other emerging social justice leaders for a day-long training. Build expertise and knowledge in your advocacy and grassroots activism to successfully mobilize around the issues that matter most to you and your community.

By taking the Activist Academy on the road we hope to continue to diversify emerging and established community organizers in Idaho. Skills and leadership development in organizing is important for ALL communities across the state. The ACLU of Idaho is constantly seeking to do more in making sure those opportunities are as widely available as possible, so we've included eight stops in this year's Activist Academy tour. As always our goal is to lay the foundation for continued collaboration and support with as many communities across Idaho, as possible.

The training will consist of large group discussions and breakout sessions on power analysis, community organizing, lobbying, communication tactics and more. Attendees will have the opportunity to connect with ACLU staff and other community leaders in the area, further strengthening a statewide network of social justice advocates in Idaho.

Come learn and connect at an Activist Academy near you! All trainings are from 9:30 am – 4:00 pm. Check-in begins promptly at 9:15. All training materials, food and snacks will be provided.

Online applications are preferred, however emailed copies or applications mailed via post are also accepted.

Please note the different application deadlines for each location.

The Activist Academy is free and open to the public but space is limited. While we would like to offer the training to all who apply, priority will be given to those who have not already attended an Activist Academy training or similar training from the ACLU of Idaho.
